

WILLIS-CAMPBELL ANTI-BEER PASSED BY SENATE, 39 TO 20

Now Goes to Conference With the House With Prospect of Final Enactment This Week—An Amendment Was Adopted Prohibiting Searching of Private Property of Premises Without Search Warrants—Senators Brandegee and McLean Voted Against Passage of the Bill.

Washington, Aug. 8.—The Willis-Campbell anti-beer bill was passed by the senate late today 39 to 20, and sent to conference with the house with the prospect of its final enactment before the week end.

Upon being informed of the action, treasury officials said that the beer revenue bill would have no effect on physicians' power to prescribe wines and liquors.

The bill limits wine prescriptions to one quart of a given kind and liquor to one ounce per pint by alcohol content to an individual in ten days. The bill also sets a maximum of five hundred prescriptions for each physician in ninety days.

It does not specify the order of the prohibition commissioner.

The drive of the opposition forces against the bill was based on the fear of a general minor amendments meeting the house bill. One would permit the prohibition of the manufacture of alcoholic beverages for other purposes than the prohibition officers should determine that the domestic supply of alcohol would not be able to meet home demands. Another would be the prohibition officers from revoking or suspending the license of manufacturers making products containing alcohol unless it should be determined that the domestic supply was not an intoxicating beverages in increasing

The liquor and excise amendment was offered by Senator Stanley, democrat, Kentucky. As a substitute for an amendment by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, proposing more drastic penalties for bootlegging, it was adopted by a vote of 17 to 10.

Fourteen republicans and six democrats voted against passage of the bill. The republican opponents were Senators Tail-
